

WHAT IS CAMP PEACEWORKS?

Camp Peaceworks is a week-long summer day camp that empowers young people to work toward social justice. Campers may come from all walks of life, but work toward the same goal -- a more peaceful society, whether in their schools, communities, or elsewhere.

WHAT IS SOCIAL JUSTICE?

Social justice has to do with improving how we treat others based on age, race, sex and gender, sexual orientation, economic class, etc. In each of these categories, there are people to whom society gives more power or privilege, as well as people with less power who are often oppressed. Social justice is about combating this oppression and inequality, and being allies to one another.

Centre Safe provides professional, confidential, and free services for anyone who may have experienced dating violence, domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking, and for concerned loved ones.

COST?

Camp Peaceworks is free to campers through scholarships provided by donors. This includes registration, transportation, meals, and snacks.

WHAT IS EXPECTED OF CAMPERS?

Campers must be age 13-17. The themes in camp build progressively each day, in addition to the trust built within the community environment. Therefore, we ask that campers commit to attending the entire week.

Due to the personal nature of the topics discussed at Camp, we try to create a space for youth to make mistakes and take chances at being vulnerable. We ask that campers be open, honest, and willing to learn. You'll never be forced to share, but it will greatly enhance your experience.

Campers are invited to stay engaged and involved beyond Camp week! Join us for monthly meetups to catch up, stay engaged, and work on action events throughout the year!
